American Saint Series: St. Elizabeth Ann Seton

Before I discuss another great American saint, just a reminder that the daily Mass schedule is drastically altered this week. Thanks for rolling with the changes. We'll be back to normal shortly.

Elizabeth Ann Bayley was born to a distinguished family in 1774 in New York City. Her maternal grandfather was a notable Episcopalian minister and her father was a physician and professor. Elizabeth's mother died when she was only three years old and her father ensured that Elizabeth received a decent education.

At twenty years old, Elizabeth married William Seton, who was a merchant involved in the import and export of goods between the United States and Europe. Unfortunately, as European wars broke out, trade became more difficult, which happens in our own day also. William lost his fortune and scraped by to support his wife and five children. The stress caused him to get sick and doctors recommended that he get out of New York City for more pure air.

William decided to take the family to live with business associates in Italy, in the Tuscany region, but his health didn't improve and he died in December 1803. Elizabeth and the children remained for about six months before returning to New York. During her time in Italy, she was attracted to the faith of her Italian hosts and her interest in Catholicism grew. Her family noticed this interest, and she was met with opposition. Nonetheless, she entered the Catholic Church in 1805.

Entering the Church caused significant financial and societal difficulties for Elizabeth and her children. She was estranged from family members and in-laws. So, at the invitation of a priest, she moved to Baltimore in 1808 to open a school for girls. As the school rapidly grew, other women came to help Elizabeth in this work and eventually they formed a religious congregation of sisters. Thus, she founded two important movements that reverberated in American Catholic life for centuries: Catholic Schools and the religious sisters who taught in them. She was now known as "Mother Seton."

The sisters, known as the Daughters of Charity of St. Joseph, began to staff hospitals and orphanages, but they were most known for the exploding Catholic school system in the country. When Mother Seton died in Maryland in 1821, she had founded 20 different communities of sisters. She was canonized in 1975 as the first native-born North American saint.

Her story reminds us of the importance of converts to the Catholic faith. So many grace-filled men and women have entered the Church in their adult life and they continue to be a source of grace and life for the Church in the United States. Maybe you are one of those remarkable men and women that have left so much to enter the Church.

I want to encourage everyone to invite someone to become Catholic or to attend Alpha. Alpha is a great first step for non-Catholics or non-believers to begin a journey of faith. You can invite them gently and tell them about the good you have found in our Lord Jesus Christ and His Church.

Finally, next Sunday, August 9th, at St. Lawrence Church, we'll be observing the Feast Day of Saint Lawrence, which is normally celebrated August 10th.

Sincerely,
Fr. Sean Wilson

Club JOE

The Way of Surrender - Most of us spend our lives striving—striving for success, security, and control. But beneath our restless efforts we discover a quiet truth: peace begins with surrender. The Way of Surrender invites readers to discover that truth in their own deeply personal way through the situations and circumstances of their lives. In this profound spiritual guide, Vic Clesceri explores what it means to let go of fear, release the illusion of control, trust God's timing, and live from a place of deep interior freedom. Each short chapter is a practical meditation on how to live a surrendered life through the daily events of our lives. Surrender is not weakness, failure, or defeat. It is the highest expression of trust. It is a path to peace and the antidote for our anxious age.

Join us for this book study every other Wednesday beginning September 9th at 6:30 p.m. in the St. Joseph Adult Room. Books will be supplied and there is no cost to attend. To register, call Lori Wilson at 419.738.2115 by August 26th.

Can't attend on Wednesdays? Would you like to get a few friends together to do your own book study? Call the office for more info!

Scammers

Please be aware that scammers have been known to impersonate our priests with a text/email that says something like: "Hi, please return my text when you get it. I have a favor to ask." or "Are you available?" Their text/email will probably even be signed with the name of one of our priests. If you engage with the scammer, they will likely ask for iTunes gift cards. Our priests will never send messages like this. If you're ever questioning a message, please call the parish office before responding. Ignore the message (or report it as a "phishing message") and say a prayer for the scammer.
